

Singer/songwriter Paul Brandt featured at Western Canada Farm Progress Show

First of two major concert announcements in "Conexus Country Concert Series"

Regina, Saskatchewan ---- His songs have taken him to the tops of the charts on both sides of the border; his music has caught the attention of some of the biggest names in the business and he's coming to Regina for one show only!

In the first of two major concert announcements, IPSCO Place is pleased to announce that Paul Brandt will take centre stage at the Brandt Centre on Thursday, June 21st during the Western Canada Farm Progress Show, "Canada's National Farm Show". Paul's concert will be part of the Conexus Country Concert Series, an exciting new feature at this year's show presented by Casino Regina.

2007 marks a significant milestone for Paul. Not only will he celebrate his 10th wedding anniversary this year, but it's been ten incredible years for him in the music industry. Throughout that decade, in addition to releasing eight albums and touring extensively, Paul was honored as the CMA's "Global Artist of the Year", collected fourteen Canadian Country Music Awards and won six Junos. He's played for two Prime Ministers, the Queen of England and U.S. and Canadian troops. He's also involved with charitable organizations like World Vision, Samaritan's Purse and the USO.

Paul is currently working on a new studio album, with his first single off the album due to be released just weeks prior to the show. The concert stop will be part of his promotional tour, meaning his fans will get to hear some exciting new material along with favorites from past albums. Paul says he's looking forward to coming to Regina. "I always get excited about coming to any show on the prairies and I really appreciate the overwhelming response my music gets every time I'm in Saskatchewan."

Tickets to the Paul Brandt concert go on sale this Saturday, March 17th at 10 AM. Tickets are $35 each plus service charges. That amount also includes regular gate admission to Western Canada Farm Progress Show. For tickets or for more information, visit ticketmaster.ca or call 1-800-970-7328 (locally 543-7800).

More than 40,000 people from nearly 30 countries attend the Western Canada Farm Progress Show annually. It is widely recognized as "Canada's National Farm Show". Established in 1978, Western Canada Farm Progress Show is the largest dryland farm technology and equipment show in Canada featuring more than 1.4 million square feet of exhibits from 700 major agriculture equipment manufacturers, shortline manufacturers and agricultural service sectors.

###

For more information:

Dan Savoie, Communications Coordinator
781-9232 dsavoie@ipscoplace.com